BIO

I am a practicing Artist/Designer operating out of the studios within the 'The Library', Brunswick West. I am also currently undertaking a Psychology degree, entering 2nd/3rd year.

I have a vested interest in the manual production of art works and the cross-over to digital production. My personal work spans many mediums of which the current primary focus is relief printing, painting, illustration, publishing and sculpture.

I co-curate Roiars Gallery as a personal and community arts engagement project, and I'm deeply interested in the community engagement side of my practice, in which I seek to implement my current studies in psychology. This currently presents in my teaching practice, running of workshops, events and engaging with the local and extended community through the Arts. I hope to be able to provide further opportunities to emerging as well as under-privileged artists.

I am seeking further employment in a related industry and position to pursue opportunities of personal and career development that will tie in with my current career direction, studies and Arts practice.
