

2022 National Leadership Award

Nominations are open for the 2022 Arts Access Australia National Leadership Award. Nominations must be received by 5pm AEDT Monday 7 November 2022 to be considered. Late applications will not be considered.

Before you begin an application, you must also read and understand the terms and conditions of the Award, which are available for download at <https://artsaccessaustralia.org/opportunity/national-leadership-award-2022/>.

By submitting a nomination, you agree to, and are bound by, the terms and conditions.

How to apply

You can make an application in the format that is most suitable for the information you include and your access needs.

You can apply:

- Online via our online submission form
- By email to NLA@artsaccessaustralia.org, using or guided by the application template on pages 2-4 of this document
- By direct message via Facebook, Twitter or Instagram: @ArtsAccessAust, using or guided by the application template on pages 2-4 of this document

You must send your application to us before the deadline of 5pm AEDT Monday 7 November 2022.

If submitting by email or social media direct message, you can submit your nomination as a digital file. You are not limited to a Microsoft Word or Adobe PDF (or similar) file format. Accepted file formats include Microsoft Office and 365, Apple and Adobe formats, as well as .mov, mp4, .m4v, .m4a, .mp3, .mpg, .wav, .png., .tif, .jpg, .avi and .wav formats. If you are using an older or specialized media formats, please check with us before submitting, as we cannot accept a format requires software designed to support it.

You can also provide a URL link from which the application content is accessible. The URL link must link directly to the content. Members of the judging panel will not access a URL (and will not consider any application content) that requires them to log in or sign up to a service, website or platform. If you provide a link to files that are password protected, please provide the password as well.
